The pair, who gave the names of Frank Miles and J. B. Cook, were arrested when they attempted to pass a Newark postoffice money order in a Denver clothing store. Search of their hotel room revealed a large part of the other loot, according to the report.

NEW TAXPAYERS GROUP WILL MEET FRIDAY AT HIGH SCHOOL TO ORGANIZE

PARTY MAROONED IN MOUNTAIN CAMP RETURNS TO NILES

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bockes returned to Niles last week after an enforced stay at a mountain camp up in Mendocino county. According to reports heavy rainfall began shortly after they reached their destination, and soon made automobile travel unsafe.

Mrs. Boyer returned a few days before the other three. She made her way to a station where she obtained transportation. She was anxious to return to Niles, where she had left her baby daughter in care of Mrs. Phillip Moore, her mother.

The remainder of the party stayed at camp for several days, expecting the rain to stop so they could drive the car, but were finally forced to walk miles around a mountain in order to reach an open road.

Prominent Speakers Discuss Procedure for Local Association

An announcement has been made that Friday evening a meeting of township taxpayers will be held at Washington Union high school, from eight to eight-thirty o'clock. This meeting is for the purpose of establishing a permanent organization and perfecting future plans. Officers will be elected to replace those persons who have been managing affairs temporarily.

Two speakers will be present to outline methods of procedure. They are C. J. Struble, of Oakland, and J. Deuel, of San Francisco. Struble is chairman of a countywide committee on public expenditures and taxation. He is well known in this region for the work he has done in this field. Deuel is connected with the Farm Bureau and will explain various methods of administration in his department.

All taxpayers are urged to attend in order to make this project a success. Anyone will be free to express opinions or ask questions involved with local government and other issues brought before the assembly.

In the past, according to some of the sponsors, people have made known their desire to establish such an association and therefore it is asked that all people interested be at the meeting to lend their support.

Officers temporarily in charge of arrangements for the session Friday night are George Roeding, of Niles, chairman; William Patterson, of Newark, treasurer, and Miss Flora McKeown, of Alvarado, secretary.

ROCK THROWER'S TRIAL TO BE HELD APRIL 17

Plea On Murder
Accusation

Goss is charged with the murder of Joseph Pino, a Hetch Hetchy foreman on the night of February 12. Parole Board Has a Heart Like An Ox

Perhaps you didn't know that Jacob Goldstein, Los Angeles millionaire, sent to the penitentiary not so long ago for murdering his business partner, is out in the wide-open spaces again by the grace and magnanimity of our big-hearted parole board.

Thinking it over, it seems to us that it is just a shame that a rich man should even so much as come under the same law of prosecution to which a vagrant and a bum are subjected. But while that relic from our democratic institutions is still a part of the common law in this era of dictatorships, there is nothing else for a rich, and we might add, "popular" murderer to do but get a quick and quiet parole. That is especially easy if the high-class rascal proves to be well-bred and mannerly while temporarily out of circulation.

It seems that in the case of this (Gold)stein individual, the board wanted to get him out of the state, so it was stipulated, strange enough, in the parole document, that immediately upon his release he must entrain for Forest Hills, in the far off state of New York. Now, generally, paroled persons are forbidden to leave the state, and must make periodical visits to the secretary of the parole board and report on their deportment. But Goldstein, to the contrary, was ordered out of California. This gentleman was badly involved in politics during the regime of Asa Keyes, and was accused of giving a $15,000 bribe to the Los Angeles district attorney for the privilege of pleading guilty to manslaughter. All very interesting.

But that perhaps is not all that you did not know. You remember that about six or seven years ago a girl by the name of Dorothy Ellington killed her mother because that parent objected to a projected evening at a questionable dance hall. Murdering a mother is pretty unusual, and not at all a thing to be proud of, even sob sisters will reluctantly admit. Well, the girl was turned loose, when we do not know. Never knew she was out until we read this week that she had been arrested on a charge of thievery. Now, of course, the girl may not be guilty of stealing and the whole thing may be just a "bad break" for a little girl trying to go straight.

We are not stating that the parole board should not have given her another chance. She did serve longer than most murderers—some six years. Human life is very cheap in America. Killing people is one of the safest pastimes. Robbing people in a big way—especially through trickery—is just like having a dozen insurance policies against any kind of annoyance.

Sometimes we wonder if being a respectable, law-abiding and mild-mannered person is not after all a great laugh. It gives one no particular social standing, is no recommendation to public office, and adds not at all to one's material wealth; but if one's conscience enjoys this unusual distinction of being a model man of personal and business morals, then perhaps after all it is worth it. Let the crooks get the big run on the first page, and the dough. At any rate, according to our early teachings, a good man has a first-class ticket to heaven. But—damn-it, anyway—we'll bet that when we get up there, instead of meeting Saint Peter it will be that dirty scoundrel, Big Hutch, late beneficiary of Friend Richardson's administration, taking up the tickets at the pearly gates.

DO YOU CONSIDER OTHER FACTORS BESIDES BULK CIRCULATION IN PLACING YOUR ADVERTISING INSERTION ORDER?

If you haven't we'd like to call your attention to certain very important facts about advertising media, which are so often overlooked by advertising space buyers because in the past, when there was no such thing as depression, they weren't really important considerations. For FINER meals from CHEAPER meat-cuts and vegetables

Electric RANGES MAKE CASH SAVINGS
...lower food costs...cut wasteful shrinkage

COOKING WITH LITTLE OR NO WATER, most successfully accomplished with the electric range, is more than a new kitchen practice. It saves time and money in food preparation.

When a large amount of water is used in cooking meats, much of the juicy meat flavor is drawn into the excess water. The meat becomes tough and tasteless. When vegetables are boiled vigorously in similar use of water, the most valuable and body-building nourishment goes into the water and is usually thrown away. Cooking with little or no water is important then because foods so cooked are more healthful and taste better.

The steady, even heat from the glowing coils in an electric range preserves the flavor and increases the tenderness of the least expensive meats and cheaper vegetables. Electric range cookery means finer meals at lower cost every day of the week. And what is most important of all, actual food shrinkage is 20 to 33 per cent less, a cash saving in the household food bill.

The best way to know why the electric range does these things is to look at the new 1933 models on display in our local office. Your electric dealer has them too. This year these new electric ranges of finer quality are lower than ever in price. Ask about the easy purchase terms on the new 1933 electric ranges.

LIONS PLAN CAMP DIMOND TRIP FOR BOY SCOUT TROOP

Swimming Campaign To Be Launched In Near Future

Members of the Centerville Boy Scout troop will have the opportunity to enjoy a trip to Camp Dimond during the last week-end in March, it was decided at a meeting of the Centerville Lions Club scout committee held Friday night at the Washington Union high school.

The trip is part of the program of activities planned for Centerville scouts by the Lions, who are sponsoring the troop. Fred Rogers was chosen to head the scout group on the trip.

Plans were made at the meeting to launch a swimming campaign for the scouts in the near future in order to give instructions to non-swimmers and give those already able to swim an opportunity to improve. It is the aim of the committee to have all scouts proficient in swimming before the campaign is over.

Use of Witherly's pool at Mission San Jose is expected to be obtained for this purpose and later in the spring the scouts will be taken to Fred Rogers' camp in the Livermore hills where there is a pool, according to the committee's plans.

A full report of the recent trip made by the scout troop to the Golden State creamery in Oakland was made at the meeting by Geo. Mathieson, who headed the group. Thieves Break Into Pleasanton Store

Thieves broke into the Crulshank and Kohn hardware store, Pleasanton, Sunday evening but were frightened away before they had a chance to get anything.

According to investigations of Constable Albert Verrais and Chief of Police John Delucchi, the burglars were amateurs and apparently must have heard the night Watchman, Fred Sanderish, making his rounds. They escaped before the job was completed.

They climbed the roof of a small shed in back of the store and from the shed they pried the panel off the back door with screw drivers and gained their entrance in that manner.

According to Crulshank nothing has been found missing.

The Red Cross Appeals For Earthquake Relief Fund

To relieve the distress of thousands of men, women and children camped in the parks of Southern California cities since the earthquake last Friday night, the American Red Cross appeals to the people of the Pacific Coast States to raise funds immediately.

Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, by proclamation has designated the Red Cross as the official relief and rehabilitation agency and urges generous support of the Red Cross.

Many homes have been destroyed or seriously damaged. Owing to the lack of housing facilities, thousands of disaster sufferers have been sheltered in tents in Bixby and Recreation Parks, Long Beach. Other thousands in this and other communities have made use of space on lawns to set up tents in their effort to carry on.

Mass feeding has been conducted in Long Beach, Compton, Artesia and Lynwood, all in the affected area. Hundreds of volunteers from the Red Cross, American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Salvation Army, the State Government, the Army and Navy, and the National Guard have co-operated with a view to meeting the emergency.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, has announced an appropriation of $50,000 to the Disaster Relief Fund of $500,000 needed. At the same time all Red Cross Chapters have been asked to mobilize their forces and finances to help the stricken people of Southern California.

Thousands are without savings and facilities to help themselves. They have turned to the Red Cross for help. Money is needed for hospital bills, medical care, as well as for the rehabilitation program covering the repairing and rebuilding of homes.

Funds are needed to get the families out of the public parks and back into their homes. The Disaster Relief program of the Red Cross does not include rehabilitation of business property or businesshouses that were damaged or destroyed.

State and National funds may be forthcoming later for reconstruction of public buildings, such as schools, libraries, city halls and fire houses, but the first call now is for houses to shelter the homeless.

The Red Cross urges that contributions be forwarded to the nearest Chapter or to the Pacific Branch Office of the Red Cross in San Francisco.

Pleasanton Sportsmen Enjoy Brief Trip to Pine Ridge

Spring Fever Call Is Answered By Sportsmen Saturday

That terrible affliction, spring fever got hold of Frank Garatti, Angelo Ulinana, Johnny Amaral and Bill Brenner, all of Pleasanton, last week, and these boys decided that, after the weather had been so nice, it would be a good time Saturday to journey up to the cabin which nestles so prettily on the slopes of Pine Ridge and more or less get it in readiness for the coming year.

Garatti and Ulinana, being a little more seriously afflicted with the spring fever contamination, left Saturday morning, after careful selection of all necessary items for the larder. A meeting of the four principals was held to be sure no essential was left behind. Even coal oil was remembered, and the trail-blazers left bright and early, to be followed at eventide by Brenner and Amaral.

The trip up was beautiful, the delicious ozone of spring filling the lungs to capacity.

But as is sometimes the case, Mother Nature took a hand, and after the boys were snugly tucked in their bunks on the hill, a gentle rain came pattering down, and the wind started to howl in unison with the coyotes. Came the dawn, and the morning sun failed to emerge from its covering of rain laden clouds.

Sunday morning the camp was deserted in haste, and preparations for the homeward trek were made with no lost motions.

The cars were packed—and then it was discovered that the skid chains had been left in Pleasanton. With a slippery road, and yawning chasms stretching up their eager ears on all sides to welcome the boys in case the car slipped too near the edge, a sudden epidemic of sore wrists and poor eyesight afflicted the mountaineers. Four debaters tried to persuade one another to drive the car. But each one's pleadings fell on closed ears. At last a compromise was reached.

All got out and pushed the cars home, a mere twenty miles. Sore necks, sore backs, sore feet and four badly soled dispositions finally reached Pleasanton after a seven and a half hour push from Pine Ridge.

The boys plan to wait a few weeks before making the trip again.

Pleasanton Junior Chamber Banquet Is Success

About thirty members of the Junior Chambers of Commerce in the East Bay region attended the banquet and meeting given at the Castlewood County club Wednesday evening at which the Pleasanton Junior Chamber of Commerce acted as hosts.

John J. Amaral, president of the Pleasanton Juniors acted as toastmaster at the banquet and presided over the business meeting in the absence of E. C. Lillie, of San Leandro, chairman of the Alameda county Junior Chambers of Commerce.

J. Russel Knowland, Jr., United States director of the Junior bodies, gave an interesting report of the state convention held at Santa Barbara last month. Ken Dyer, of Oakland, delegate of the Alameda County Junior Chambers of Commerce to the convention, also gave an interesting talk. William Reichel, president of the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce was one of the guests.

William Letham, a member of the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, entertained the men with a few card and slight of hand tricks.

The affair was arranged by a committee under the supervision of President Amaral and consisting of Peter Christesen, Frank Trimmingham, Ray Martin, Cliff Nevis and Cliff Rosa.

Pleasanton Junior Traffic Patrol Starts This Week

Junior Officers Direct Traffic For Safety Of School Youngsters

Members of the Pleasanton Junior Traffic patrol started their duties last Monday in directing the traffic at the intersection of Abbey and Main street opposite the Veterans Memorial building while the children were on their way to and from school.

George Barron, of the California state highway patrol, assisted the boys in their duties Monday but since then the boys have been doing the work alone.

A squad of three members works at one time. The two officers hold the orange signs with black printing and the lieutenant blows the whistle. The captain or the sergeant is on the sideline ready to assist the boys when necessary.

The officers on duty wear attractive caps of a bright orange. On the front of the cap there is a white cross, which is the emblem of the National Safety council. In the white cross there is a black star, which is the emblem of the boys police authority, and on the black star in orange print are the letters P. J. T. R., which stands for Pleasanton Junior Traffic Reserve.

Alten Shotwell was added to the Junior traffic reserve squad this week as a relief man. All the boys working on the traffic patrol were selected from the standpoint of scholarship and citizenship, and if any boy fails on either of the two he will be removed from the reserve. Also if he fails in the performance of his duties as a traffic officer he may be expelled. V. Bernard Johnson, principal of the grammar school, announced this week.

People of that community have been asked to take notice of the hours which the traffic patrol is on duty and to try to cooperate with them by obeying them when they are on duty.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

If your food chopper needs sharpening, run a piece of sandpaper through it, just as though the soap were food. It will both sharpen the cutters and remove any grease that may be on them. Rinse thoroughly in boiling water.

Tea biscuits sometimes turn out paler than they should. A teaspoon of sugar added to the recipe will help to give them the golden glow that adds so much to their appetite appeal. Tart shells, pie crusts, and rolls gain greatly in appearance if a little sugar syrup is brushed over them just before they are taken from the oven.

Tenting Tonight

THE Streeters had been "out" a month, and by that I don't mean out of jail, but on the road, in the great out-of-doors, hitting the trail, or what you will in camp lingo.

To look at them, you would know they had been out for some time. A thick coating of dust hid the newness of duffle bags, suitcases, stove, umbrella tent, telescope cot, and collapsible table, all stowed on running boards, fenders, bumpers and either side of the hood.

Mrs. Streeter had been the instigator of the trip. She had had difficulty in persuading her husband to go. As for Darlene, their daughter, it required all of their combined parental authority to get her to accompany them. And it was because of her that they were there.

"We must get Darry away from that plumber's boy," Mrs. Streeter had insisted. "I suggest that we take the car and go touring."

"Nothing of the kind. It isn't being done as it used to be. We will put up at those lovely state parks and municipal camps you hear tell of. The Dunbars were out all last summer and they said they just rode all day long, looking forward to the camp at night, some of which had electric lights, caretakers, showers, and everything!"

So here they were on this warm August day doing a mean forty-five and hoping to reach a camp the man in the chain store where they had bought some groceries had told

MICKIE SAYS—

THEY'RE NO USE KICKIN' BECAUSE YOU DON'T LIKE WHERE WE PUT OUR AD—WE TRY TO GIVE EVERYBODY A GOOD POSITION, BUT REALLY, IN A GOOD OLD RELIABLE FAMILY PAPER LIKE THIS, WHERE OUR READERS DEVOUR EVERY LINE, ANY PLACE IS A GOOD POSITION!

Beetles Get There First

Most prominent among creative insects are the most "modern" of them in the sense that their forms and habits show most change in comparatively recent geologic times—the bee and their kin, and the butterflies and moths. These two specialized insect groups have shown more development since the beginning of the age of mammals than have most members of that most varied group of all insects, the beetles. Plant-dependent beetles had their structures and habits fixed when bees and butterflies were getting started on their modern evolutionary courses.

them about. "Somebody's camp grounds or other, it says on a sign. Don't know about the shower baths, but it's right on the highway and you can't possibly miss it."

However, darkness, unlighted by moon or stars, for the night was cloudy, had descended before the Streeters reached their destination; sure enough, there was the sign, on which, aided by the spotlight, they could at least make out the welcome words "camp grounds."

In the background, a dark bulk, as of a tent, loomed up, and a general trodden-down appearance of the level ground seemed to indicate that other campers had preceded them.

Within an hour, mother, father and daughter were wrapped in slumber. Darry's sleep, to be sure, was interwoven with pleasant dreams of Charley regarding whom absence had only seemed to make her heart grow fonder.

The sun had been up some time, when Mrs. Streeter awoke with a start. Then she nudged her husband. "Listen, Ed, am I dreaming or do I hear an awful lot of people outside?"

Ed turned over drowsily, roused up, and peeked through the tent flap. Then he sat up suddenly. "There are at least two hundred," he said, "sitting around and acting as if they were waiting."

"Waiting?" cried Mrs. Streeter. In a loud whisper, "waiting for what?"

"Well," groaned Mr. Streeter, "they look as if they were waiting for us to get up."

"And that canvas thing in back we thought was a tent," broke in Darry, who had been doing some peeping on her own account, "looks like a statue waiting to be unveiled!"

Those stolid Arabs, who folded their tents and silently stole away had nothing on the Streeters that morning. In utter stillness and with never a glance at one another, they crept into their clothes and climbed into their car.

Just as Ed put his foot on the starter a portly woman rushed over to them and shook Mrs. Streeter's hand violently. "We hope we didn't disturb you, but you know we're a club made up of his descendants and we've come to dedicate this statue on the anniversary of his birthday. If you would like to stay—"

But Mrs. Streeter declined her well-meant invitation kindly but firmly. Not until they were many miles away did she open her mouth again. Then, "Well, I would like to know whose descendants they were, but I don't suppose I ever shall, for never in all my born days will I come back this way again."

"Well, I can tell you, Mamma," said Darry bitterly. "It was Joshua Putnam. While she was talking to you I looked over at that sign we half read last night, and it said 'Joshua Putnam Camp Grounds. Where Joshua Putnam made his headquarters in 1777.' We weren't camped in what we think of as camp grounds. We were sleeping in a public park, and if you say another word against Charley, I shall tell everybody at home the whole thing. I just guess it isn't any more disgraceful to marry a plumber's son than hold up an unveiling celebration while you get your clothes on!"

Next day, Charley received a telegram. "Dearest Charley, we are coming right home because Mamma is sick of camping. She says no more camping for her. But let's you and I go camping on our wedding trip. It's all right if you go with the right party and camp before dark so you know where you're at. Love and kisses.

SOVIET SEEKS GOLD LOST IN BAIKAL SEA

Bandits' Loot Believed Sunk With Vessel.

Berlin.—Reports of an immense treasure of gold, lying on the bottom of the Baikal sea in Siberia, have caused a sensation among Russian emigrants in Berlin.

The gold treasure is declared to have been sunk in the Baikal sea 28 years ago and allegedly belonged partly to the Russian royal family and partly to the Russian State bank.

A man appeared at the Soviet bank in Moscow a short time ago and told a fantastic story about the treasure. Although the Soviet authorities are keeping the matter secret it now has leaked out that not only has an expedition located the treasure, but allegedly has even recovered a considerable amount of the gold. It is now hoped that Moscow's empty coffers soon can be refilled by the vast treasure still at the bottom of the sea.

Bandits Lose It in Sea.

The facts, as they now have leaked out, are as follows: In 1904 a war between Japan and Russia seemed inevitable. Czar Nicholas therefore ordered all state banks in Siberia to transport their gold to the state bank in Petersburg, because he feared that the Japanese might seize the money.

A regiment of Cossacks escorted the gold transport. When they reached a small bridge at the Baikal sea, they were attacked by a gang of bandits, who had learned of the secret transport. The bandits were much better armed and outnumbered the Cossacks, all of whom were killed.

The gold bars were brought aboard a little steamer, to be shipped to the dug-out of the bandits. During the voyage, a terrific storm broke out, which the obsolete steamer could not withstand. At the same time, the bandits began quarreling about the distribution of the booty.

While the men were engaged in a fierce fight, the steamer suddenly began to sink. Nearly all of the crew were lost. Only three men succeeded in escaping.

Swears to Story's Truth.

The man, who has told this story to the Russian officials, claims to be one of the three bandits who succeeded in rescuing themselves. He has declared under oath that his story is true.

The Soviets at once began investigating the matter. Divers were sent down to the bottom of the Baikal sea, where they allegedly succeeded in finding the remains of the sunken steamer and even some of the gold bars. The Soviets now are said to be making feverish attempts to lift the steamer with its cargo of inestimable value.

Babies in Japan Must Not Cry; Have No Fear

Few persons have ever seen a little Japanese in tears, because in Japan the children are taught from earliest infancy not to cry.

They are schooled to bear pain, disappointment and all the other little troubles that sometimes reduce western children to tears, with courage and fortitude.

One often sees little Japanese boys standing before their elders with straddled legs and unblinking eyelids, while swords are sent whistling past their noses.

Again and again the sword comes rushing down, but the little boy never moves—always there is a faint smile on his lips, a smile that says: "This is the way to face danger!" Again, all Japanese children are poets. This is no idle statement, but a recognized fact, and travelers report that, although they have visited villages in Japan where the inhabitants are too poor to offer the visitor a cup of tea, they are all able to write poems to their gods and their shrines.

The children of Japan are always happy, not because they are rich, well-fed, or live in nice houses, but because they are taught from the very beginning to look on the sunny side of life and to fear neither man nor beast.—Detroit News.

NO MYSTERY ABOUT PLANE ACCIDENTS

Causes in Most Cases Are Easily Ascertained.

Washington.—The public has gained the impression, from published accounts of airplane crashes, that most of them are due to unascertainable causes. As a matter of fact, of 1,502 airplane accidents that took place in 1931 the cause of only half a dozen remain unknown.

This misconception arises from the fact that the aeronautics branch of the United States Department of Commerce has no authority for making public results of specific investigations. The Interstate Commerce commission, in its investigation of railway accidents, can hold hearings, subpoena witnesses, and compel testimony which is immune from use in suits against a railroad resulting from the accidents in question.

Not so with the aeronautics branch in investigation of plane crashes. An inconspicuous reference to the arrival of a government inspector on the scene of an accident to determine the cause is the only public reference made to these men. The nature of his work, his detailed findings, and his recommendations never get into the press.

With no other aid than their technical knowledge, acquaintance with the personnel of the industry, and ability to root out facts, the government inspectors must reconstruct accidents and establish causes. Their findings then remain locked in the files of the department.

These files serve a definite purpose, however. They are in constant use as a guide to manufacturers and in the creation and amendment of regulations for commercial aviation. Yet to make them public would mean having the members of the department's staff in court most of the time.

In virtually every accident a part of the testimony is obtained in confidence, because that is the only method by which complete and accurate information may be obtained.

Is Happy at School in Spite of Bone Disease

Shelbyville, Ind.—Annabelle Fessler, suffering most of her life with eleven bone breaks, has attained one of her big desires. She goes to the public school in Blue Ridge, not as other boys and girls, but has to be carried.

For several years the child sat at the window of her room and watched children at play in the school yard, near her home. Because of her ailment, which left her bones brittle and easily broken, she was not able to go to school.

She has been a patient several times in the Riley hospital at Indianapolis. Physicians there are hopeful that some day Annabelle will outgrow the trouble. Her legs are in braces, heavy, awkward, but she is happy to be at school with the other children.

Answer Girl's Appeal

Seattle.—One hundred offers of marriage were received by Helen Naroiski, eighteen years old, of Buckley, Wash., who offered to marry any white man who would give her $2,100 to restore her mother's health.

British Shaft Will Honor Pocahontas

Norwich, England.—The Norwich consistory court has issued a decree permitting the erection in the Heacham parish churchyard of a monument to Pocahontas, who is said to be buried there.

Pocahontas, among other distinctions, set the fashion for American girls by being received at the English royal court. She died off Gravesend in 1617 after having set sail for Virginia with her husband, John Rolfe.

The name "Golden Gate" was given to the entrance to San Francisco bay by Sir Francis Drake about 1578.

U. S. Border Is Crossed by 48,311,328 in Year

Washington.—The Labor department revealed that 48,311,328 people—aliens and citizens—crossed or attempted to cross the American borders during the year ended June 30. Only 7,064 of this army were denied admission.

In a report to Secretary Doak, Commissioner General Harry E. Hull of the immigration bureau said those who cross the Mexican and Canadian borders cause the most trouble. The ineligible alien and the alien smuggler also were described as serious factors.

Aliens questioned by Immigration inspectors, chiefly at Detroit, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and El Paso, during the year numbered 22,862,697 and citizens quizzed totaled 23,006,022. Besides these 915,642 alien seamen and 333,160 citizen seamen were examined.

A total of 35,567 aliens who wished to live in the United States were admitted. The others questioned were tourists or persons who cross to nearby border points for various purposes, but live in Canada or Mexico.

The immigration border patrol during the year captured 22,735 ineligible aliens, an increase of 231 over the previous year, and 149 smugglers were arrested.

Pension From Carnegie Goes to Lloyd George

London.—David Lloyd George, Britain's "Grand Old Man" of the war, receives a pension of $10,000 yearly from the United States, according to Everyman.

Lloyd George and John Burns, it is claimed, are Carnegie political pensioners.

When Andrew Carnegie became a British Radical and controlled several Radical newspapers, he is said to have endowed four Radicals. Two of them are Lloyd George and John Burns. The other two were the late Lord Morley and the late Thomas Burt, who was a member of parliament. Burns receives $5,000 annually.

Ancient Palace Found

Stockholm.—The remains of a two-thousand-year-old palace containing 40 large rooms has been discovered in Mexico by a Swedish explorer, Dr. Sigvald Linne, according to a report recently published in Stockholm. This remarkable find was unearthed at San Juan, Teotihuacan, near Mexico City.

Gladstone Knew Homer; He Had Memorized Poems

It has been stated that Gladstone was not a great Homeric scholar. This depends on what scholarship means (asserts a correspondent). If to know the poems nearly by heart makes a Homeric scholar—you could give him a line anywhere and he could go on without the book to the bottom of the page—he certainly did deserve the title. On the other hand, and as already indicated in the earlier paragraph, his surmises and deductions were scoffed at by professional scholars. Dean Liddell, of the lexicon, in a letter to his son, poured scorn on Gladstone's Homeric lecture at the Oxford union in 1890, and a great scholar and wit of the time crystallized the orthodox point of view in the epigram, "He has deserted the field in which he has no rival for one in which he has few inferiors."—Montreal Herald.

The Castles of Normandy

Less than half a century after the battle of Hastings, Normandy was the center of a vast Anglo-Norman kingdom which stretched from Scotland to the Pyrenees. Those were the days when men felt more secure inside castle walls than around conference peace tables, and great forts were built everywhere, to which the modern tourist makes trails today. William the Conqueror built and fortified the Chateau at Caen, another was the fortress at Dieppe, while close by can be seen the crumbling remains of the romantic castle of Arques. Other castles are to be found, as those of Gisors, Gaillard, built by Richard the Lion Hearted, till finally the massive Abbey Fort of Mount Saint Michael on the sea coast completes the picture.

Thunderstorm Rays

Two South African scientists claim to have discovered evidence that thunderstorms give off rays of great penetrative force. They caught these rays in a Geiger-Muller counter, the same instrument now widely used to count or register cosmic rays. While they do not know definitely what kind of rays they caught, they believe them to have been generated by lightning. They suggest that the rays may be migratory electrons or particles of electricity shot upward from storms. Such rays were registered only 20 to 30 miles from the storm. Directly under the storm there were no rays.—Pathfinder.

Days of Chaperonage at Parties Are Gone Forever

Think of the days when rows of so-called dowagers, many of them perhaps not yet past the early forties, were obliged to sit for hours at dances on more or less uncomfortable chairs, smiling heroically through agonies of weariness and boredom!

Incredible though it may seem, there actually was a period when fathers went to dances with their daughters, waited patiently for hours, until at last it was time to escort the dear girl home.

Some elderly persons can remember the old-fashioned picnics and beach parties, when chaperons of both sexes uncomplainingly provided nourishment for hordes of famished mosquitoes, while their charges swiftly vanished to indulge in the pastime then known as "tossing," and now more accurately termed "petting."

The number of parents martyred by the supposed obligations of a chaperonage which seldom, if ever, restrained their offspring from doing precisely as they pleased is as incalculable as the sands of the sea.—North American Review.

About Weathercocks

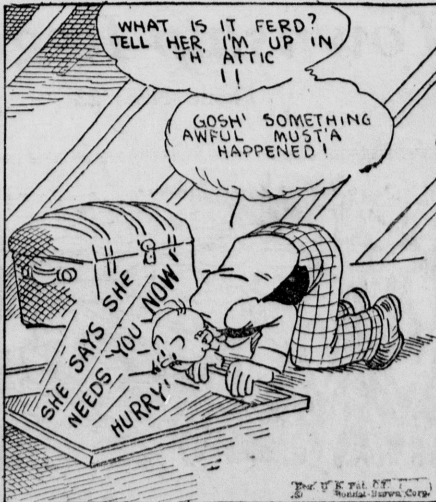

The use of weather vanes for indicating the direction of the wind is of very early origin. The instruments used upon castles and towers in the olden days were in the form of a banner, but the use of the cocks and the name of weathercock came about in this way. On ecclesiastical buildings the vane was given a symbolic significance. The crosspiece of the instrument was surmounted by a ball to symbolize the redemption of the world by the cross of Christ, and the cock was placed upon the cross in allusion to the redemption of Saint Peter. Thus the beholders were reminded of the importance of the duties of repentance and Christian faith. Apart from the symbols of the cock, its large tail is well adapted to turn with the wind, and its form admirable for the purpose for which the vane is intended.

Grenfell Missions

The Grenfell missions in Labrador and Newfoundland, administered by the International Grenfell association, were founded by Sir Wilfrid Grenfell in 1892 to meet the great need for hospitals, nursing stations and other services for fishermen and their families on these coasts. The mission headquarters is at St. Anthony, Newfoundland, where Doctor Grenfell lives and where he has established an orphanage. His hospital steamship, the Strathcona II, cruises annually along these coasts, and he goes ashore to visit his hospitals, schools, nursing stations, orphanages, co-operative stores, industrial plants, etc.

Pointer for Dog Lover

A daily brushing instead of an all-over bath is recommended for the baby dog under three months old, by those who know the why's and wherefore's of dogology. Should it become necessary to bathe a very young puppy, say the experts, every precaution should be taken to guard him against taking cold. Baths in winter are particularly dangerous. For the grown dog, a bath once every three weeks should suffice during the winter, though a daily grooming and brushing is good for him.

Amador Dons Beat Livermore Nine in First League Game

Dons Blow Up Livermore Cowboys In Second Inning

Getting a win in their first league game, the Amador Dons defeated the Livermore Cowboys by an overwhelming score of 30 to 3 in a battle fought on the Livermore diamond Friday afternoon.

The Dons caught the Cowboys short of pitchers and took full advantage of the situation and ran up a high score against their rivals.

The first inning Bridges, Livermore pitcher, shut the Dons out, and Silva, Don pitcher, did the same when the Cowboys came to bat.

In the second inning F. Peters got on base on an error, Hardy sent one far away for a circuit clout scoring Peters, and from then on wild pitching and errors by the Cowboys allowed the Dons to score nine runs on but three hits.

The Amador boys were a little tired from running around the bases and in the last half of the second inning Livermore's first man up was safe on an error, the second got a free pass, the third man struck out, Murray hit and the Dons started throwing the ball away to allow Livermore to tally two runs. Silva fanned the next two batters to end the agony.

The balance of the game was pretty much the same, with Amador scoring when not too tired and always away in front.

The Dons' fielding was greatly improved and in Friday's game a beautiful double play, Dutra to Cintrone to J. Peters was made which stopped a scoring threat in the third period.

In the last inning with two away Silva struck out the last batter, but Bud Perry dropped the ball and then a misplay at third allowed Livermore to score their third run.

Safreno was absent and Frank Peters was moved to third and Bud Perry caught. Dutra got four hits out of six trips to the plate. Perry, Cintrone and Hardy each scored four runs apiece. Silva scored three runs, one of which was a home run.

Silva, Amador pitcher, struck out 8, walked 4 and allowed 3 hits. Bridges and Varney, Livermore pitchers, struck out 4, walked 6, and allowed 18 hits.
